

Eye-hand coordination

Sports Vision Trainer (SVT)

This instrument requires patient to use full hand motion to mimic eye-hand coordination demands of sports such as volleyball. It consists of a wall panel with 80 circular lights that measures proactive and reactive times. For proactive mode, results are shown as time taken to complete the test. For reactive mode, results are shown as percentage of positive hits out of all lights activated within that timeframe.